

BERLIN BLACKOUTS

Info Text, english, June 2021

This is Punk Rock ... it started in late fall 2014. Since then two albums were released on LP, CD and MC, mostly sold out. They also released a split-7" with "Gang Zero" on a Swiss Label (Lux Noise) and in '19 they put out a split-7" with the canadian band Streetlight Saints. The current full-length "NASTYGRAM SEDITION" followed November '19. All physical copies (MC/CD/LP) were sold out by summer 2020. The album contains two video-singles "Anticap. Messiah" and "Imagination" (video clips can be found on youtube). "Make Punk Rock Great Again", the 3rd single is a duet with Peter Bywaters (Peter & the Test Tube Babies). It was released as a Pic-12" EP including 4 b-sides (also featured by Peter Bywaters). Two more physical EP outtakes from "Nastygram Sediton" will still be released this year.

The line-up was changing constantly, they started as a 5-piece and it's only Bev (vocals, guitar) and Katja (bass, vocals) left as originals. Since 2019 the new drummer Chris Kotze is gunning the engine as if they just started yesterday. Timi Tribiani is slinging the lead guitar since 2020

Punk Rock explains their entire world. Mid-tempo songs with a pissy mood about the state the whole world's in. If you like it rough and real and can't get enough of stuff like Sex Pistols, Ramones and The Clash, you're damn right with those guys.

About 200 shows are to their credit so far ... A rerelease of their first record "Bonehouse Rendezvous" came out August 2020 on their home label Wanda-Records.

Album number 4 was entirely recorded in December 2020, has no title and no release date yet.
